The citation detailed the actions of Garvey, then a private first class, when his unit was ambushed by more than 100 Viet Cong using machine guns, automatic weapons, and mortar fire.

"Private First Class Garvey and two other Marines on the point were immediately pinned down about 10 yards from the enemy positions. In the midst of the firefight, an enemy grenade was thrown among the three Marines," the citation read.

"WITHOUT hesitation or regard for his own safety, Private First Class Garvey grabbed the enemy grenade and hurled it back in the direction of the Viet Cong. When the grenade exploded approximately five yards from his position, he sustained multiple fragment wounds and the loss of a finger."

The citation commended Garvey for continuing to lay down a covering fire "although suffering greatly." His immediate action undoubtedly saved his own life and that of his fellow Marines, the citation reported.
The young Marine, a member of South High's 1965 graduating class, was returned to the United States after the incident last January and has been confined since at Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego. He lost the middle finger of his left hand and fingers next to it were badly damaged. He expects to be returned to limited duty at the San Diego base soon.

Wilson told commissioners Wednesday he had received a telephone call about the property from a prominent industrial realtor. The realtor, R. G. Harris, told him a city councilman had told him the land was available for sale or joint venture, Wilson told the commission.
"I said, 'Who told you that—Al Isen?'" Wilson explained.
"He said, 'Yeah.'"

Industrial Directory Published

The 1966 edition of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce Industrial Directory is now available. J. Walker Owens, general manager of the chamber, reminded members this week.
The directory, which is available free to chamber members, includes the names, address, and other pertinent information on virtually every manufacturing and processing firm in Torrance, Owens said. Also included is a list of principal local officers of the firms and the approximate number of employees.
Additional copies of the directory may be purchased at a cost of $3 per copy.

Housewife Found Dead In Bathroom

A 40-year-old Torrance housewife was found dead Friday night by her husband and 12-year-old daughter.
Mrs. Eileen Brettnacher, 213 Calle de Madrid, was dead on arrival at Little Company of Mary Hospital. Police said a shotgun, which she apparently used to take her own life, was found on the floor next to her body.
Joseph Brettnacher told police he and his family had finished dinner about 6:30 and he and the girl, Janet, had gone to the market. When they returned, he went next door to visit a neighbor and the girl went into the house and called her mother. Mrs. Brettnacher had been in ill health for some time, police were told. The body was taken to McCormick's Mortuary.
